

Abstract

It is a tank (1) for liquids complete with base valve (23) with rapid opening and closure feature rendered operational by positioning on, or by lifting the tank (1) from the support cup (2) which connects with the discharge element
5 (31), this support (3) being supported by the handle projection of the floor-washing appliance itself.

This type of tank (1) and relative support cup (2) complete with discharge element (31) makes it possible to either replace or exchange the tank for others full of floor washing liquid.